the eden proposition Official website for Eden Central School. You may be aware that the No Child Left Behind Act allows parents to move their children from identified schools to other public schools in the same district, provided that the new school is making its AYP targets. However, this is not an option here at the Eden Central School because we are the only public school in our district serving PreK-6 students.

the eden proposition Experimental research designs are important because they minimize threats to internal validity. Internal validity is the confidence a researcher has that a change (whether naturally occurring or due to manipulation) in the independent variable causes the observed change in the dependent variable. Although there are a number of confounding variables that may threaten internal validity, the most ...
